

High Above The City

Brian Mountford

senza misura (♩ = 92) poco rit.

Swallow mp High a-bove the cit - y, on a tall col-umn, stood the stat - ue of the Hap - py Prince.

Rehearsal mf

5 a tempo poco rit. a tempo poco rit.

Swal. He was gil-ded all o - ver with thin leaves of fine gold, for eyes he had two bright sap-phires, and a

10 a tempo poco rit. a tempo poco rit. A ♩ = 92 proudly mf "He is as large red ru - by glowed on his sword-hilt. He was ver - y much ad-mired, in - deed.

17 (a battuta) poco rit. a tempo aristocratically

Swal. beau-ti-ful as a weath-er-cock," re-marked one of the Town Coun - cil-lors who wished to gain a rep-u -

22 poco rit. a tempo with less certainty

Swal. ta-tion for hav-ing ar-tis-tic tastes; "on-ly," he ad-ded, "not quite so use-ful."

mp

28 B a tempo lyrically

Swal. "Why can't you be like the Hap-py Prince?" asked a sen-si-ble

p

32

Swal. moth-er of her lit-tle boy who was cry-ing for the moon. "The Hap-py Prince

35 C disgruntledly

Swal. nev-er dreams of cry-ing for an-y-thing." "I am glad there is mf

p

8vb

Swal. 39 mp

some one in the world who is quite hap - py," mut - tered a dis - ap - point - ed man as he gazed at the won - der - ful stat - ue.

Swal. 41

Swal. 44 mp innocently D

"He looks just like an an-gel," said the Char-i - ty Chil - dren as they

Swal. 50 mf huffily E came out of the ca - the-dral in their bright scar-let cloaks, and their clean white pin - a - fores. "How do

56 poco rit. a tempo

Swal. you know?" said the Math-e-mat-i-cal Mas-ter, "you have nev-er seen one."

mp p

F innocently poco rit. (♩ = 76) sternly

Swal. "Ah! but we have, in our dreams." And the Math-e-mat-i-cal Mas-ter frowned and looked mp mf

67 poco rit.

Swal. ver-y se-vere, for he did not ap-prove of chil-dren dream-ing.

mp